Because this petition is more than 1 year after the date of abandonment, applicant additionally submits further information below as to when the applicant (or applicant's representative) first became aware of the abandonment of the application, and a showing as to how the delay in discovering the abandoned status of the application occurred despite the exercise of due care or diligence on the part of the applicant (or applicant's representative). 62 Fed. Reg. 53,131, 53,159 (Oct. 10, 1997).

The Applicants' representative was diagnosed with a serious illness that required him to take significant time off of work. During this illness the present application unintentionally became abandoned due to a failure to respond to the non-final office action caused by a docketing mistake. The result of that mistake was the deadline for response to the non-final action was inadvertently missed. Recently, Applicant's representative discovered that the application was abandoned and since that time has diligently worked to prepare a response to the outstanding office action and a petition for revival of an unintentionally abandoned application.
